About Dore Abbey

Founded by French monks in 1147, it is the only Cistercian Abbey in the country still used as a parish church. It is remarkable for the wealth and variety of its features dating from the 12th century to its 17th century restoration. The marvellous acoustics make it a popular venue for musicians and singers. Dore Abbey is located in the peaceful Golden Valley, and nearby places of interest include Abbey Dore Court Gardens, Kilpeck's Romanesque church, Hay-on-Wye, the glorious Black Mountains, and much more.

CHORAL WORKSHOP

Mozart: Mass in C “Coronation Mass”

(Novello edition in Latin)

with

PAUL SPICER

on

Saturday 9th September

at

Dore Abbey

Golden Valley

Herefordshire HR2 0AA

About the work

Following Mozart's failed search for work in Paris, his father secured him employment as organist and composer at Salzburg Cathedral. The mass in C major was completed in March 1779 and was almost certainly premiered on Easter Sunday, 4 April 1779.

The music is celebratory in nature, and in the early nineteenth century became the preferred music for royal and imperial coronations, as well as services of Thanksgiving, at the Imperial court in Vienna, thus acquiring the nickname "Coronation Mass".

Paul Spicer

Paul is well known as a choral conductor, particularly of the acclaimed Finzi Singers with whom he made many CDs for Chandos records. He conducts the Birmingham Bach Choir and teaches choral conducting at Oxford and Durham Universities and the Birmingham Conservatoire, where he also conducts the chamber choir who record for Somm Records each year. He gives Choral Workshops all over the UK, in Europe, frequently in the USA and other parts of the world.

Several CDs of Paul's compositions have been released and his 'Easter Oratorio' was singled out as Editor's Choice in The Gramophone in April 2006. His Advent Oratorio, written to celebrate the 50th anniversary of the Lichfield Cathedral Special Choir, was premiered in 2009. His major new work, a choral symphony called Unfinished Remembering commemorating the centenary of the First World War was premiered to great acclaim in September 2014 in Symphony Hall, Birmingham.

As a writer, the highly successful biography of his composition teacher, Herbert Howells, was published in 1998 and republished in 2014, the same year his major biography of Sir George Dyson was published by Boydell & Brewer. He is now writing a biography of Sir Arthur Bliss.

Paul runs a series of highly successful choral courses under the banner of the English Choral Experience. There are two week-long courses in Abbey Dore in July and France after Easter. He also runs weekend courses in various locations including Orford, Suffolk; Winchester and Durham Castle.
